● BLANKET BAN ON OVERAGE VEHICLES

Scientific study needed: Delhi govt urges SC to review order

ANANTHAKRISHNAN G
New Delhi, July 26

THE ROAD WORTHINESS of a vehicle is a technical and scientific issue that must be linked to actual emissions, the Delhi government has highlighted in an application filed before the Supreme Court as it urged the top court to review its 2018 order on the blanket ban on overage vehicles across the National Capital Region (NCR). In its application, it also sought directions to the Commission on Air Quality Management (CAQM) "to carry out a suitable broad-based study" and analyse if there is a need for the continuation of such a ban.

A Supreme Court bench headed by Chief Justice of India

BR Gavai will hear the matter on Monday. After the National Green Tribunal (NGT) had banned petrol vehicles older than 15 years, and diesel vehicles older than 10 years from plying in NCR in 2015, the Supreme Court had upheld the ban in an order dated October 28, 2018. In its application dated July 25, the Rekha Gupta government has argued that "the roadworthiness of a vehicle is a technical and scientific issue that must be linked to actual emissions as tested and recorded by mechanisms as set out under the Motor Vehicles Act, and the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, among others, as opposed to blanket ban on the basis of age which is not linked to actual emissions".

The government said that significant technological, legal, and environmental developments have taken place since 2018, which warrant a "re-examination of this decision" by an expert body to form a structured and graded plan to tackle pollution. The blanket ban order, it pointed out, "was originally passed as an emergency measure during a period when Bharat Stage IV (BS-IV) emission standards were in force and the migration to Bharat Stage VI (BS-VI), which has much stricter and advanced norms, had not yet commenced."

"It would be appropriate if suitable scientific studies on the feasibility, desirability and efficacy of continuing the said ban are carried out at the level of the Union of India or the CAQM," it added. The government highlighted that the ban on the vehicles in the last seven years "though undoubtedly salutary in aim was observed to have caused numerous practical hardships to the citizens of Delhi, which today, in light of the advancements in technology and enforcement now prima facie appear to outweigh the prudence and feasibility of continuance of the said ban".

Safety audit in schools must: Govt

THE MINISTRY OF Education has issued a directive to all states and Union territories mandating them to conduct audits of safety mechanisms and facilities for children in schools, officials said on Saturday. The Education Ministry has also called for schools to ensure the structural integrity of buildings. This comes a day after a portion of a government school in Rajasthan's Jhalawar district collapsed on Friday, killing seven children and leaving 28 injured. "States and UTs must take urgent steps to ensure students' safety and well-being. This includes mandatory safety audits of schools and child-related facilities as per national safety codes, training for staff and students in emergency preparedness, and the provision of psychosocial support through counselling and peer networks," a senior MoE official said, adding, "Structural integrity, along with fire safety, emergency exits, and electrical wiring, must be thoroughly assessed." —PTI

India-UK trade pact to boost e-comm exports

MUKESH JAGOTA
New Delhi, July 26

THE COMPREHENSIVE ECONOMIC and Trade Agreement (CETA) signed with the UK will facilitate e-commerce exports from India, as it exempts imports valued below 1,000 pounds from the proof of origin, officials said.

Proof of origin is required under the Rules of Origin (ROO) of a trade agreement. These rules prescribe the minimum value addition for a product in the exporting country to qualify for preferential market access. The value addition is certified by nominated agencies in the exporting country. The consignments valued under 1000 pounds come under e-commerce and are sent through courier or post and not as bulk cargo on ships. The exemption will remove the requirement for exporters to get their products certified so that they can enter the UK on lower duties or duty free.

In the CETA, both India and UK have opted for product-specific rules of origin, implying that they are different for different products.

India-US deal big shot in arm: Panagariya

THE PROPOSED INDIA-US trade agreement will be a big shot in the arm and make India a very attractive location for investors and result in a lot of liberalisation by the country, chairman of the 16th Finance Commission

Arvind Panagariya has said. "A lot of the current things that are underway are very exciting," Panagariya said during an interaction hosted at the Consulate General of India in New York this week.

Kotak Bank Q1 net tumbles

THE BANK SAW lower recoveries and upgrades at ₹549 crore from ₹747 crore a quarter ago. Annualised credit cost inched up to 0.93% from 0.64% a quarter ago.

The net interest income of the bank grew by 6% on year to ₹7,259 crore in April-June. Other income grew by 5% on year to ₹3,080 crore in the reporting quarter. Net interest margins moderated to 4.65% from 4.97% a quarter ago largely due to RBI cutting the repo rates.

The growth in the bank's balance sheet was robust, with deposits rising 15% on year and advances rising 13% as on June 30. The current account, savings account deposit ratio stood at 40.9% as on June 30. Within advances, the consumer banking space grew 16% on year and the commercial banking segment saw a growth of 5%. There was a de-growth seen in the retail microcredit on a year-on-year basis. On a sequential basis, personal loans, consumer durables, SME saw some deceleration. Despite RBI lifting the embargo on issuing new credit cards, the book saw a year-on-year fall. On this, Ashok Vaswani, MD & CEO of the bank, said, "In all of last year we could not issue any credit cards, due to which the outstanding came down. It takes some time to get the engines going." He added that there were a lot of cards that were inactive or dormant which the bank had to close and that too reflected in the card numbers.

The bank's management said they have started cautiously disbursing loans in the microfinance segment and hope to see some pick up in 2HFY25. "We feel the credit costs have kind of peaked and we have selectively started going back.

The new disbursements that we are doing is in or about the same level of run-off (24-30 month). So the book will stabilise and start climbing again once the disbursements pick up.

Now, that should happen by 2HFY26," Vaswani said.

The share of unsecured retail advances, including retail microcredit, fell to 9.7% as on June 30, from 10.5% as on March 31. The cost of funds moderated to 5.01% from 5.10% a year ago.

The credit-deposit ratio of the bank stood 86.7% as on June 30 as compared to 87.2% a year ago. The capital adequacy ratio of the bank stood at 23% with common equity tier-1 at 21.8%.

Investor portfolios get chic

"THERE'S BEEN A remarkable shift in how people view legacy, craftsmanship and provenance," said Bhavna Kakar, founder of art gallery Latitude 28. "Vintage jewellery, especially signed pieces from heritage maisons, has grown steadily—depending on rarity and condition. What makes these assets interesting is that they serve as hedges against inflation; they're globally portable other than antiques, and unrelated to market volatility. Their intrinsic value only increases as materials and skills become rarer," added Kakar. "People do consider these items as an asset class now, because if people own these items today, chances are in years to come they will sell them for more than what they pay for (at auction)," said Martin Nolan, executive director & co-founder of Julien's Auctions, a privately held auction house based in Beverly Hills, California, which will next month hold an auction of Princess Diana's clothes and accessories.

As per the 2025 Knight Frank Luxury Investment Index (KFLII), a global benchmark that tracks the performance of 10 luxury collectibles: handbags, jewellery, coins, watches, etc, certain categories have remained resilient in 2024. Handbags topped the growth chart (+2.8%) followed by jewellery (+2.3%), and watches (+1.7%). "Luxury collectibles have delivered for investors over the long term. If you had invested $1 million in 2005, your investment would now be worth $5.4 million. The same amount invested in the S&P 500 would have been worth $5 million by the end of 2024. Unsurprisingly, the luxury sector weathered the global financial crisis better than financial investments, and with the ability to leverage these investments through financing, the boom for collectibles lasted for well over a decade from 2008. While it took equities several years to catch up, the past decade, and the past five years in particular, has seen a consistent pattern of stronger returns from the financial sector," said Liam Bailey, global head of research at Knight Frank.

Indian art is currently in one of its best phases, with MF Husain's Gram Yatra selling for a record ₹118 crore at a Christie's auction house recently, followed by Tyeb Mehta's Trussed Bull, 1956, selling for ₹61.8 crore at a Saffronart auction in April. For Sotheby's Indian & Himalayan Art auction in March this year, 56% of works sold above their high estimate. A large gilt copper alloy figure of Shakyamuni Buddha soared to $2,978,000, well over its $1,500,000 high estimate; a copper alloy figure of seated Buddha attributed to Chen Hongshou, achieved $1.4 million—more than 20 times its high estimate. Agony of a Dejected Lover: a folio from the Gita Govinda, sold for $571,500, surpassing its $500,000 high estimate.

"We are proud to be building the conversation beyond what the world considers blue-chip modern Indian art," says Manjari Sidhare Sutin, Sotheby's specialist, co-worldwide head for modern and contemporary south Asian art. At an AstaGuru auction in May 2024, a Patek Philippe watch estimated at ₹70-90 lakh sold for ₹99 lakh, and a natural pearl necklace (estimated ₹90 lakh) sold for ₹2 crore. At the Master's Legacy auction in 2024, modernist JP Gangooly's early work was estimated at ₹10-15 lakh, but achieved a staggering ₹2.6 crore. A pair of silver vases by Tiffany & Co achieved a sale price of ₹88 lakh, surpassing original estimate of ₹20-25 lakh. The vintage, antique pieces like a crystal floor chandelier by Osler were sold for ₹18 lakh in 2024, while a vintage Chinese jade ship achieved a sale price of ₹2.2 lakh. Last year, AstaGuru sold a stainless steel and resin sculpture by Anish Kapoor for ₹9.61 crore, almost double its estimate of ₹5 crore.

At the master auction 'Collectors Choice' in June this year by AstaGuru, the sale of 35 handwritten letters and 14 envelopes from Rabindranath Tagore to sociologist Dhurjati Prasad Mukherji fetched ₹5.9 crore. This result marked the second-highest price ever achieved by a Tagore creation at an auction of a significant archive of correspondence.

Manoj Mansukhani, CMO, AstaGuru said, "More than financial appreciation, it's the emotional and cultural connection that drives this market. Many are drawn to the idea of legacy—owning something historically and aesthetically significant."

"Masterpieces by renowned artists such as Picasso, Basquiat, Raza, Husain and Amrita Sher-Gil have seen remarkable growth in value over time. Vintage watches from Rolex, Patek Philippe, and Audemars Piguet with complete paperwork and original packaging enjoy robust secondary markets," said Singh of Christie's.

Kiran Nadar, founder & chairperson, KNMA, advises new collectors to prioritise emotional value. "Art should be something you want to live with and appreciate daily, not just an investment locked away," said Nadar.

FM: India, China talking cooperation

"AS TO HOW far it will go, it is something we'll have to wait and see. It might help the economy; however, much a sense of caution would have to be built," she said.

Last week, foreign minister Subrahmanyam Jaishankar travelled to China for talks. Jaishankar said India and China must resolve friction along their border, pull back troops and avoid restrictive trade measures to normalise their relationship. "If I can use that expression...we need more access, and we need to have a lot more interaction, and possibly opening some windows, and that's not just from our side. Even Chinese, I think, have been approaching through the ministry of external affairs," she said.

India imposed restrictions on investment from China, particularly through Press Note 3, to curb potential 'opportunistic takeovers' of Indian companies during the Covid-19 pandemic and to address national security concerns related to border tensions after Galwan clash. This policy change, enacted in April 2020, requires prior government approval for all investments from countries sharing a land border with India, including China.

Talking about the current global trade scenario, she said it is bilateral trade that is taking priority over multilateral trade. "On the bilateral trade front we are moving forward and we have seen bilateral agreements signed in the past four-five years with Australia, UAE and the UK. Negotiations are progressing well with the United States as well as the European Union," she said.

She said the government is making sure the policy on FDI is friendly enough and attractive enough, to be able to get more and more investments into India.

Boost for local industry: Goyal

FOR THE UK, India will reduce or eliminate duties on 90% of the tariff lines that account for 92% of the imports.

As the UK gets on with the ratification process, India would start making contacts with businesses in the UK by sending delegations so that it can start leveraging the CETA as soon as it materialises, the minister said. "I have already talked to the Indian mission in the UK."

The immediate target for the FTA is to double bilateral trade — both goods and services — to $11.2 billion by 2030 from $5.9 billion in 2024-25. The talks on the agreement began in January 2022 and were concluded on May 6 this year. Initially the agreement was to cover 26 chapters or policy areas but by the end of talks their number has gone up to 30.

Bigger batteries drive EV bookings

THE NEW VARIANT, which offers a claimed range of 449 km versus 332 km for the smaller one, saw more than 8,000 bookings in the first 24 hours. The price gap between the two is around ₹2 lakh, but for most buyers, the enhanced usability justifies the premium.

Tata Motors' Srivatsa said that the customer mindset of spend once, worry less, is driving similar demand across the company's EV portfolio. In the newly-launched Curvv EV, for instance, 75% of buyers are opting for the 55-kWh variant, with only a quarter choosing the 45-kWh version. In the case of the Punch EV, 80% of customers are choosing the 35-kWh battery over the 25-kWh option.

The best example is the Nexon EV. Once offered with two battery sizes, its sales have now tilted so heavily toward the 45-kWh variant that Tata Motors is contemplating phasing out the smaller 30-kWh version altogether. "More than 95% sales are coming from the 45-kWh variant," Srivatsa said.
